

Wainscott Weekly

October 9, 2015

Another busy week has flown by. The students are really getting into the swing of things and have been working extremely hard. In math we have been focusing on place value which the students seem to be understanding well. We have been studying citizenship and government in social studies. Our Journeys books have had some great stories about family and neighbors. This upcoming week we have our visit to Pumpkin Town which should be a great time for all. There will be some math and science lessons that will tie into our trip so be sure to ask your children all about it. I have been sending home all the classwork, homework, and projects that we have done in school so remember to take a look with your child and have them explain what they are learning. Hope you all have a lovely long weekend.

UPCOMING EVENTS

October 12th: No School

October 14th: PumpkinTown with

Sagaponack School

Way to go K-1, another fantastic week of fun and learning. We learned many interesting facts and information about fire safety at home and in school. Ask your child for one fire safety rule. We learned many things about the firehouse and firemen who protect us every day on our visit to the firehouse. We learned a fun song about Christopher Columbus and created hats to represent one of his three ships. In math the Guppies worked with identification and ordinal counting of numbers 5-7. The Rainbow Fish and Belugas learned the different ways that numbers can be broken up into. For example, $5=3+2$ and $4+1$ and $5+0$ etc. In Reading the Rainbow Fish read an informative story about Dr. Seuss and his many fun books. The Belugas read about a girl and her neighborhood. We discussed the different places that we have in our own neighborhood. I will be sending home the textbook next week for your child to read the story of the week to you. Please remember to send the book back each night. Everyone please practice your word cards daily.

Have an amazing nice long weekend!
